

Factions

Brief back story of our 3 factions at launch.

Human: Humans have be driven from their home planet of earth because of an alien race ( have not been determined yet ) Who Have came out of no where. The Humans knew the world was done for they lost all hope until an alien race from the world of vectra shows up and gives the humans a special technology to transport them from Earth to Vectra. As they agree to the terms for the technology they don't understand what the agreement says in whole so they don't know whats in store when they get there. When The Humans get to Vectra they get implemented with an energy core inside their wrist and a special breathing device so the humans can breath properly on the world of vectra. afterwards they would be united with their OverMaster and the master will explain what to do to the Human and if you do not comply he will terminated your energy core which will explode killing you.
